WELCOME TO FEDERATION

Maine Music Clubs Are Arriving Here For Their Annual Convention

The 13th annual convention of the Maine Federation of Music Clubs, opens today, at the Congregational Church at 2 o'clock with the registration of delegates and the enrollment of federation members and guests. The official opening of the three days' program will take place at 2.30. Mrs. S. Merritt Farnum of Lewiston State president presiding, and Mrs. Edward P. Berry of Rockland, first vice president assisting.

National officers to be present at this time are Mrs. George Hall of Providence, honorary president of the Plymouth District; Miss Julia Williams of Providence, Past Junior Counselor; Miss Ruth Perry of Providence, National Treasurer; and Miss Julia Noyes, National vice president and Mrs. Guy Gannett, National director, both of Portland.

A high light of the afternoon program will be the appearance of Geoffrey O'Hara, noted composer as guest speaker. Well known to federation members throughout the State,

Mr. O'Hara and his subjects are sure to be of interest to all musicians and lovers of music.

Reports will be given by the following directors, Miss Louise Armstrong, Portland District; Miss Elizabeth Litchfield, Lewiston District and Mrs. A. J. Bird, Augusta District, and assembly singing will bring the program to a close.

The Friday morning session will be devoted to balloting, reports of directors and chairman continued and musical numbers will be given at intervals during the program. State President S. Merritt Farnum will preside at the 2 o'clock meeting, assisted by Mrs. Foster L. Haviland second vice president, the clubs offering many talented numbers. A special attraction will be the Westbrook College Glee Club, directed by Rupert Nelly, offering an unusual manuscript program.

Mrs. S. Merritt Farnum of Lewiston, president of the State Federation

The 7 o'clock banquet at The Thorndike Hotel, will be followed by

ORGAN FOR COMMUNITY BUILDING

The fine Robert Morton organ of Strand Theatre was this morning presented to Community Building by Joseph Dondis, president of the Rockland Amusement Co. The coming of talks with canned music did away with the necessity of the organ at the theatre much to the regret of the hundreds of lovers of that beautiful instrument who went to the Strand more to hear the delightful music than to see the pictures. Many can recall with pleasure the joy of hearing their "requests" from the talented musicianship of Jimmie O'Hara.

Joseph Dondis, who with customary generosity, has presented Community Building with a Robert-Morton organ

The organ, costing over $10,000 will be moved immediately to Community Building and, as soon as may be, set up in the location planned for such an instrument over the large exit to the right of the proscenium arch. It makes the finishing touch to the splendid auditorium of Community Building which is now completely equipped and one of the best of its type in New England.

CONNELLAN'S TALK

The Kikanis Club Hears An Instructive Address On Planned Life Insurance

The necessity for a planned life insurance program in every family, which takes care first of the most urgent demands that can be expected was urged in an address Monday night at the Copper Kettle, by James Connellan before the Kikanis Club. Mr. Connellan's speech was part of the local program for Life Insurance Week, which is being observed currently throughout the nation.

Decrying hit-or-miss methods of planning a life insurance estate, Mr. Connellan said that the program should be so designed as to meet the two greatest hazards in life—the danger of dying too soon, and leaving helpless dependents to shift for themselves; and the danger of living too long, of being confronted by penniless old age through having out-lived personal earning power.

Picturing a man, age 30, with a wife and infant son, Mr. Connellan said that it is generally agreed that a man's first obligation is to leave a clean financial slate in the event of unexpected death. In addition to paying off creditors, he said that a mortgage on the home could be properly included as a part of the "clean-up" obligation.

"The second vital obligation is that of providing the widow with a monthly income beginning at the husband's death and continuing for as long thereafter as may be arranged," he said.

"The third vital obligation of the man in question is that of providing for his own financial independence throughout his declining years, after age has ended his earning power. Once he has assured the continuance of his income to his family in the event of his premature death, it is only fair that a man turn his attention to the problem of providing funds for himself in the evening of life.

"If his counsel has been wise and his planning careful, he will find that in safeguarding his family he has purchased the types of policies that build up a cash value—the kind of coverage which, if the need for protection for the family has been outlived, can be converted into an income for himself.

"Of course, should he decide that more dollars are preferable for retirement purposes, they may be secured through the purchase of a contract whose specific function is to pay an old age income. But it is an interesting and sound proof of poetic justice that, if a father completely discharges his first two vital obligations to his family, the bread which he has cast upon the waters will return to nourish him in later life, bringing him peace of mind, security, and personal independence."

GUESTS OF GOVERNOR

The Daily Newspaper Publishers in Spring Session, Col. Harry F. Ross Presiding

Members of the Maine Daily Newspaper Publishers' Association, meeting in Augusta this week for their spring session, were entertained at a luncheon by Governor Lewis O. Barrows in the Blaine Mansion Tuesday.

Col. Harry F. Ross of the Bangor Daily Commercial, vice president of the association, presided at a business meeting in the Augusta House before the luncheon, in the absence of President Fred D. Jordan, publisher of the Bangor Daily News.

Those present, besides Col. Ross, were Guy P. Gannett of the Portland Press Herald and Express, and his father, W. H. Gannett of Augusta, Fred R. Lord of the Kennebec Journal, Augusta; Frank S. Hoy of the Lewiston Sun-Journal, John M. O'Connell, Jr., of the Bangor Daily News, George W. Bridgeman of the Biddeford Journal and Frank B. Nichols of the Bath Daily Times.

KNOX AND LINCOLN MEET

Rockland, Camden and Lincoln Will Compete At Damariscotta Saturday

The sixth annual Knox-Lincoln track meet is to be held Saturday at the Lincoln County Fair Grounds, Lincoln, Rockland, and Camden are the teams competing. Camden is entering after a lapse of three years.

The meet promises to be one of the hardest fought of recent years. Both Rockland High and Lincoln Academy have better than average teams. Rockland swamped Gardner High in a dual meet two weeks ago and Lincoln has to its credit a win over the strong Brunswick High team. Camden is an unknown quantity, but may take just enough points to throw the meet either to Rockland or Lincoln.

Lincoln has in co-Capt. Dunn, "Tubby" Lewis, Harry Hildebrandt, co-Capt. Metcalf, Herbert Yarborough, "Bent" Glidden, "Red" Jones and Charlie Weeks, some boys who can give a good account of themselves in any type of competition.

FRIENDS RALLIED AROUND

Frank A. Winslow Honored By His Chief and a Host Of Well Wishers

(By John M. Richardson)

The stars were certainly propitious Tuesday for Frank A. Winslow, associate editor and widely known

Frank is faced with the problem of being a true friend to the unfortunate, and at the same time being true to his newspaper, whose duty it is to record the events of the day.

The "chief," W. O. Fuller spoke in characteristic happy manner and amid applause Miss Katherine McDonald presented the honor guest with a travelling bag in behalf of the office group. The place cards were fittingly held in slotted linotype slugs bearing the guest names in gleaming type metal. On each card in ink of Winslow green appeared the

"Not F. A. Winslow of Rockland but T.H.E. Winslow of Rockland" says W. O. Fuller

Roving Reporter of The Courier-Gazette. It was his natal day and, starting with an early morning telegram from his old crony E. Carl Moran in Washington the hours were filled with greetings by post and wire. At 6 o'clock his office associates of the newspaper tendered him a testimonial banquet at The Thorndike Hotel and in the evening nearly 200 friends gathered at the tower room in Community Building to honor the day and listen to the 100th lecture in his remarkable series.

At The Thorndike gathered an unique group composed of Mr. Winslow's present office associates and many who had worked with him in other years, the "four horsemen" who have motored him on his lecture and "Roving" tours, and that irresistible cause of it all, Willis I. Ayer, for it was Willis who coerced the giving of the first lecture. The beautiful floral tributes were from the gardens of Walter H. Spear and Ralph Smith. The blazing birthday cake was the gift of Mrs. W. O. Fuller.

It was a jolly crowd of 32 who partook of one of the finest turkey dinners ever served on The Thorndike's famous tables. Mrs. Jane O'Neil took personal charge of that all important phase and did a magnificent job. Post prandials were necessarily brief consisting of the reading of greetings from Mr. Moran, Aldrich Hall Blackington, Maj. Talbot, Alton, Rose McNamara and others. Mr. Blackington said in the course of an open letter "I doubt if in the length and breadth of New England there can be found an individual who so 'boosts' all that is worthwhile. Frank Winslow's support of sport in Rockland and the surrounding country has kept alive that vital spirit so necessary to youth. When occasionally one of these youngsters fall by the wayside, or gets in a jam, initial letter cut which starts each Roving Reporter yarn.

At table were: Frank A. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Mrs. Leah Ramsdell Fuller, Harry G. Cole, Neil S. Perry, Oliver F. Hills, John M. Richardson, Maynard Wiggin, Raymond Anderson, Marguerite Johnson, Theodore Sylvester, Jasper E. Rawley, Ruth Ward, Katherine McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dimick, Helen M. York, Mrs. Annie Morton, Mrs. Elvie Curtis, Mrs. Edith Follansbee, Mrs. Caro F. Jones, Mrs. Retta C. Cole, Mrs. Gladys Heistad, Mrs. Leola Noyes, Mrs. Lucie Winslow, Mrs. Mabel Thorndike, C. Earle Ludwick, Edward Gonia, Ralph Smith, Robert Webster and Willis I. Ayer.

The handsome tower room was comfortably filled when Mr. Fuller, with a depth of feeling which touched every person present, honored his associate of many years in naming the speaker of the evening. In this, his 100th lecture, Mr. Winslow gave his supreme best and held his audience intensely interested to his final dramatic conclusion. Few present but had heard some of the five lectures, but none truly realized before the tremendous scope of the speaker's experience, or the vast amount of vital information he retains in the storehouse of his mind. The evening's talk took the form of a skillfully blended composite of the entire series, "Flirting With Fame," "Green Ink Tales," "Sixteen Years After," "Knights of the Road" and "When the Ghost Walks." Its conclusion was marked by an ovation and the promise of a similar gathering on the occasion of the two hundredth lecture. Adjourning was made with the sentiment expressed:

Each year a little clearer
May the purpose of life seem.
Each year a little nearer
The achievement of your dream.
Each year a little dearer
May you count your friendships too.
And so each year for many more
May birthdays come to you.

- standing men: Skinner, Hickman, Mazzeo, Berggren, Mazzeo, the brother of Rockland's famous Bruno Mazzeo, is nearly a match for his brother, and is expected to gain many important points for Rockland.
- Hildebrandt, the Lincoln Ace, will be entered this week in the weight events and probably will only run in one race due to the fact that his favorite events the hurdles are not included.
- Lewis should score heavily in the weights for Lincoln and is almost certain to break the record in the hammer throw. The records at which the boys will be shooting follows:
- 100 yd. dash—10 4-5 sec., Bates, Lincoln, Melvin, Camden.
- 220 yd. dash—23 4-5 sec., Melvin, Camden.
- 440 yd. dash—55 sec., Hildebrandt, 39, Lincoln.

A CLINIC SERIES

For Pre-School Children To Be Held In Knox and Lincoln Counties

A series of clinics will be conducted in Knox and Lincoln Counties during May and June for pre-school children. These clinics are sponsored by the Extension Service with the co-operation of the Maine State Department of Health and Welfare and the Farm Bureau.

Dr. Herbert Kobus, medical director of hygiene for the state, has charge of directing the work and is making arrangements for doctors and nurses to give physical examinations to all children who attend.

The Extension agent has personal conferences with mothers on child feeding schedules and food habits. Follow up work will be done by the nurse in many cases.

Local Farm Bureau groups are sponsoring these clinics in their own communities. The clinic committees have charge of making arrangements for the hall, transportation of mothers and children, and giving personal invitations to the mothers.

Miss Leone Dakin, foods specialist, will attend the first clinic in Edgecomb, May 27. The committee in charge of this clinic is: Mrs. Mabel Sherman, Mrs. Annie Adams, Mrs. Mary Jane Webb, Mrs. Evelyn Gray, and Mrs. Inez Sherman. Other communities holding these clinics and committees in charge are:

Montsweag, May 28, Mrs. Madeline Colby, Mrs. Henry Evans, Mrs. Alice Babb, Mrs. Rose Babb, and Mrs. Jessie Colby.

Nobleboro, June 1, Mrs. Eola Hatch, Mrs. Kenneth Vannah, Mrs. Harriette Palmer, and Mrs. Ruth French.

Orff's Corner, June 2, Mrs. Amber Childs, Mrs. Ada Elwell, at Mrs. Marjorie Ralph.

PLANE SERVICE

Island Line Resumes Saturday — Charles Treat In Charge

Seaplane service to North Haven and Vinalhaven will be resumed Saturday on regular schedule with Airways Inc. of Waterville as the operating company and with that popular veteran flyer Charles Treat at the controls.

The ship, a Fairchild 71, is already at the sea plane base next south of the public landing. It is newly reconitioned one of seven planes owned by the corporation. Airways Inc. has been in existence seven years and to it Waterville owes its present fine airport. Dr. George G. Averill well known in this city is president and its treasurer who was a Rockland visitor yesterday is W. H. Marden.

The ramp and offices have been newly reconitioned to meet the demands of the four round trip schedule which will be inaugurated in the near future, a two round trip plan being used starting Saturday with planes leaving at 8.30 a. m. and 3.30 p. m.

This spring suit sale started in bed.

We make them every day... suit sales that started in a dream and ended up in reality.

Take Mr. X of Beech street. The other evening he couldn't get to sleep... started to worry... then switched to something pleasant... clothes.

He pictured a model... better than the suit he'd just taken off... a color he liked... a price that was attractive.

That was 11.45 p. m. Tuesday and by 9.45 a. m. Wednesday he came to Gregory's and found it.

BUDDY POPPY SALE

Mayor Thurston Issues a Proclamation Naming May 22 As Day For the Sale

Once again, on Memorial Day, Americans everywhere, as a united people, will pay proud and reverent homage to those gallant heroes who died that American liberty might live. On that day the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States asks you to wear the Buddy Poppy of remembrance.

Buddy Poppies were named by their makers, all men who once proudly wore the uniform of their country. Disabled now, and broken, in government hospitals throughout the country these men recall as they fashion these little red flowers, the days when they fought shoulder to shoulder with their buddies who sleep today in France. Many of them died, not alone for the safety of their country but for the future security of humanity. Others, ready to make the supreme sacrifice, returned, but they returned shattered in health and strength, to face the handicap of an impaired existence. The sacrifices which these men and their families made in America's hour of need seemingly have been forgotten by the government they served. The permanent and sometimes total disabilities which they are suffering as a result of the service in the World War, have taken from them every chance for economic freedom and independence.

All Buddy Poppies are made by disabled and needy ex-service men in government hospitals or soldiers' homes, who receive nominal sums for their work. The entire proceeds of the sale are used for relief activities throughout the organization.

In conjunction with our local observance of Memorial Day, the day on which we honor the memory of our soldier dead, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States urges the generous support and approval of the citizens of this community in the sixteenth annual Buddy Poppy sale for the benefit of the men who did not die, but whose lives and bodies are still suffering pain and privation as a result of their patriotic service in the World War.

To care for our disabled veterans, to minister to the needs of the widows and orphans of America's heroic dead—this is the only way in which we can repay our eternal debt to the men we honor on Memorial Day. In their name, and in recognition of the national ideals they died to preserve, the Veterans of Foreign Wars asks every man, woman and child in this community to buy a Buddy Poppy "America's flower of remembrance."

Commander Frank McDonald has appointed J. J. Monahan general Chairman assisted by Dan Noonan, Oliver Hamlin and John Rickett. The Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Dan Noonan is giving its full support in this drive and also putting on a free luncheon for the workers.

Leforest A. Thurston, Mayor.

SLIP OF TONGUE

And How It Made Former Rockland Man a Regular Broadcaster

Local readers of the Boston Post department known as "Among the Studios" read with special interest Tuesday, the following:

"Due to a slip of the tongue, Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Cassens of Parkman, Me., have now become regular weekly performers over station WLBZ in Bangor each Monday morning at 9:45 o'clock, as 'The Preacher and His Wife,' a program of old hymns.

"Monday, May 3, Rev. Mr. Cassens and his wife made a guest appearance over this Bangor station while enroute to Rockland for the day. The announcer inadvertently ad libbed at the conclusion of the program, 'The Preacher and His Wife' will be heard again next Monday at 9:45. Station officials were no more surprised than Rev. and Mrs. Cassens who had no intentions of making a series of radio appearances. However, rather than disappoint many fans, the time was cleared each Monday at the announced hour and 'The Preacher and His Wife' was added as a weekly sustaining broadcast, thanks to listeners and friends of the couple who contributed money to pay their expenses to and from Bangor for the series."

BY TELEGRAPH

Western Union, Commencing June 1, Will Make Drastic Reductions

Drastic reductions in rates for overnight telegraph service which will become effective June 1 will provide substantial savings to residents of Rockland, it was disclosed by B. A. Gardner, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company. A tariff filed Saturday with the Federal Communications Commission at Washington, D. C., will reduce the cost of both short and long messages and cut the telegraph bill of the nation by approximately $3,000,000.

"The effect of these reductions," Mr. Gardner said, "is that the charge for 25 words will be the same as, and in some cases lower than, the present charge for a 10-word night message and that long messages can be sent at relatively even lower rates."

"The 10-word night message will be discontinued and the initial charge for night letters will be for 25 words instead of for 50 as at present. The maximum charge for a 25-word night letter will be 50 cents, even for the greatest distance in the United States."

"Words in excess of 25 will be charged for in groups of five instead of ten, as at present. The rates start at an unprecedentedly low level and decrease progressively as the length of the message increases, resulting in added-word rates as low as one cent for five words for messages sent a short distance and, for Night Letters sent over the greatest distance from Rockland, nine cents for five words in shorter messages and three and a half cents for each five words sent in excess of 200. This is a new principle in rate-making and is designed to facilitate the use of the telegraph for all managers of business and social communications, no matter what their length."

"These new overnight rates will enable the public to lay down communications everywhere at the opening of business the following morning, with absolute certainty and at extremely low cost, whether the messages be short or long. They should free the minds of the public from any thought that there is occasion to restrict the number of words in such communications. In fact the rates are designed to afford the widest opportunity for the fullest expression at little cost in both business and social correspondence."

WILD FLOWERS' CHAMPION

Spare The Gems Of Nature Is Plea Of A Freedom Resident Expressed In Verse

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Wild flowers will soon be brightening the road sides and woodlands with loveliness. I send out a plea for their protection. If you feel that you must have some of them, be merciful. Pick only what you need, and, pick them, do not pull them up by the roots.

Just a bit of brightness
Growing there by the wayside
To cheer the weary traveler
On his journey.
Fashioned by a master workman,
The breath of Spring
In the heart of its petals,
Its smiling face
Upturned in the sunlight,
A friendly greeting
To all who pass.

Plucked by a careless hand
By the wayside,
Drooping, its tired head,
And fading, its brightness,
Its face no longer smiling,
A faint sweet scent, a sigh,
From the heart of its petals
Ascending.
Step softly,
The soul of a flower
Is passing.

THE ROVING RAMBLER

Written by Elizabeth O. Marsh especially for the Winslow testimonial banquet.

Here's to the Roving Rambler
May he ramble the country over,
Take in all the sights and sounds—
Never cease to be a Rover.
Wherever he roves—up hill
Down stream, he's sure
To strike great glory,
When he returns he writes it up
Into a witty story
Long may he rove and everywhere
In every kind of weather
He'll always inspiration find
He and friend Rob together.

TREMONT

Rev. and Mrs. Roy W. Moody of Hodgdon were recent overnight guests of Mrs. Leslie Rich who accompanied them and spent several days with them at the Methodist parsonage. Being there Sunday, Mrs. Rich had the pleasure of hearing Rev. Mr. Moody preach three times. He was formerly pastor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pettigrove have returned from Portland, where Mr. Pettigrove has been a patient at the Marine Hospital for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harding were visitors Sunday in Hampden.

Randall Stanley spent several days recently in Bar Harbor as guest of Dr. and Mrs. L. Sherman Cleaves. The Hancock County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet May 2 at the local church.

The trustees of the Methodist Church held their annual meeting Tuesday night, but when routine matters had been completed the hour was so late that the election of officers was deferred to another date.

Tommy Regan, the well known Bangor pugilist, often seen on local cards, is suffering from a hand injury and a cut over one of his eyes, and has been obliged to decline a semi-final match at Boston Garden.

State Patrolman George I. Shaw will be the principal speaker at the Rotary meeting tomorrow, discussing highway safety. James E. Connellan will give a brief talk on National Life Insurance Week.

Friday night will find past residents and friends of Edwin Libby Relief Corps at the home of Mrs. Bessie Haraden, Limerock street, to play beano, the third in a series of games. Play will begin at 7.30 and continue until 10. Attractive and useful prizes will be awarded. Everyone is welcome.

A record attendance for the season is expected at tonight's meeting of the Baptist Men's League, for it is not only the annual meeting with a strawberry supper, but will have as its guest speaker the founder of the organization, Rev. W. J. Day of Winthrop, Mass. Mr. Day's subject will be "The Making of a Man," and he will have a devotedly interested audience.

In place of its regular meeting tonight Winslow-Holbrook Post will have a social evening, a feature of which will be the showing of moving pictures of the Navy Defense Program, released by the War Department, and presented by William H. Kelley, U.S.N. of Bangor. James E. Connellan will give a 10-minute talk apropos of Life Insurance Week. Legionnaires are asked to appear in uniform.

Miss Peggy Reid formerly of Rockland, has been transferred from the Western Union Telegraph office in Haverhill to the office at Woods Hole, Mass. as manager until June 1st when she assumes her duties as manager of the office in the Hotel Mountain View, one of the popular White Mountain Hotel resorts. Miss Reid graduated from the Western Union Training School in New Jersey in March.

The Camera Club turned out in good numbers for the meeting Tuesday night at the Congregational Church. Lieut. Com. Robert C. Jewell described his method of developing films and then answered a barrage of questions about the processes involved. At the next meeting to be held June 1, Ernest Blackington will start off the discussion of proper exposures. Until further notice dues of 10 cents each meeting was decided upon.

Lester Plummer of Pleasant street, has received word of an auto accident which occurred in Baltimore involving his father, Milton Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone (Beatrice Plummer) of New York, formerly of this city. All received numerous cuts and bruises. Mr. Plummer is confined to a hospital due to a heart condition. Particulars, other than that their car was struck by a bus have not been learned.

Guests were invited to attend the regular meeting of Blue Bonnet Troop No. 3, Monday. The time was spent in singing and playing games. A box lunch was served. Those present were: Joan Ripley, Gloria Mills, Dorothy Trask, Shelby Glendinning, Joan Hunt, Harriet Clark, Miriam Dorman, Athene Tibbets, Nathalie Jackson, Betty Payson, Virginia Richards, Ruth Hatch, Mildred Ferrin, Ruth Thomas, Marion Ludwick, Ruth McMahon, Geraldine Bourbeau, Barbara Bartlett, Ercell Simmons, Ruth Wotton, Dorothy Havener, Louise Smith, Ruth Payson, Grace Bowley, Mary Wotton, Hester Hatch, Barbara Newbert, Pauline Havener, Barbara Boardman, Elizabeth Lurvey, Mary Perry, Elaine Poust, Virginia Mills, Mrs. McMahon, Miss Stockbridge and Mrs. Trask.

The complete boxing card for Promoter Hamlin's anniversary show at the Spanish Villa Friday night, is one of the most colorful in many months, due to the fact that on one side there are four Rockland boys and on the other four boys from Calais and Canada. There will be plenty of action in every bout, as the home boys always give the fans all they have in the line of fighting. Take the main bout between Rockland's Butch Wooster and Val Lauridsen of Calais. Wooster won the decision over Val in his first bout in this city a short time back over the six round limit, and the bout was declared the best this year in a Rockland ring. Wooster is a heavyweight and at the present is classed as one of the best in the State. Lauridsen is also of the bulldog type and can punch with either hand and in his last fight at the Spanish Villa, he knocked out the highly touted Jack Renault of Lewiston.

Al Hughes of Calais, ex-featherweight champion of the Northwest is having excellent success as a trainer and conditioner of pugilists. In his stables at the present time are Val Lauridsen, Art Steeves, Tony Tamero and Young George who will appear in tomorrow night's bouts at the Spanish Villa, and Young Skinner, who has been seen here.

Twenty-eight Comrades of the Way gathered around a tall wooden cross on the highest point of Dodge's Mountain for a Sunset service Sunday evening. The occasion marked the closing of the Comrades' meetings for the season, and the setting was very appropriate. Four of the boys—Perry Howard, Richard Spear, Robert Smith and Richard Barnard—who had gone to the mountain in the afternoon erected the cross and adorned it with columbine and violets. Gathered around the cross and facing a beautiful sunset, the Comrades were led in their closing meeting by Rev. Corwin H. Olds, and after the meeting shared ice cream and cookies, looking forward to the resumption of their meetings.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the kindness shown us by relatives, friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement, and for the beautiful floral offerings sent at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Parsons, Mrs. Frank Calderwood, Mrs. Carrie Parsons, Mrs. Roscoe Cooper, Walter Parsons, Mrs. Kathryn Duncan, North Haven

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the friends who so kindly assisted us in the funeral arrangements of the late Herman Rawley and thank their neighbors for their floral tributes.

The Relatives

The destroyer Gridley completed its trials yesterday and left for Quincy. The destroyer Dunlap is due here from New York Monday for similar trials.

Elizabeth Crocker Boynton, wife of J. H. Boynton of Lexington, Mass., died suddenly Tuesday night in Providence, following a surgical operation. The funeral services will be held at the residence Friday at 2.30 p. m. Saturday afternoon the remains will be brought to this city, and taken to Sea View cemetery, where committal services will be held, friends of the family being invited. Accompanying the remains will be the husband of the deceased; Mrs. W. C. Dart of Providence, a sister; and Stanley C. Boynton, a son, who is now enroute from Miami, Fla.

Perry's Park Street Market will have a grand birthday party Saturday and everybody is most cordially invited to attend. Weeks of planning have gone into the event and no person can afford to miss it. (Remember the Perry booth gifts at the food fair). At 9 o'clock Saturday night the huge birthday cake will be cut and distributed and the new Perry's ice cream will make its debut. This ice cream will be given away to all attending the party in characteristically generous Perry helpings. The ice cream will be made at the market before your eyes, and, after the party will be sold as a regular Perry product. Many free gifts will also be distributed beginning at 9 o'clock. For detailed list note the Perry advertisement on page two.

The plant sale, conducted on the Copper Kettle lawn, by the Rockland Garden Club, Tuesday afternoon, was a most successful affair. Mrs. Anne Foley was chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. Stewart Orbeton, Mrs. Arthur Haines, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Nathan Cobb and Mrs. David Beach. The members contributed generously with plants and seedlings from their gardens. The many varieties displayed on tables were quickly purchased by patrons, adding a nice sum to the treasury. Both Mrs. Lawry and Mrs. Allen graciously helped in many ways. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Alice Cobb, 170 South Main street, the speaker of the afternoon to be Mrs. Hervey Allen, who will have for her subject "The History of Rock Gardens." The program committee comprises Mrs. Mary Southard, Mrs. Eva Heller and Mrs. Clara Thurston.

The Auxiliary to Anderson Camp, S.U.V., met last night at Grand Army hall. Mrs. Mildred Sprague was initiated into the order, with Mrs. Elizabeth Barton as presiding officer. Mrs. Ida Huntley resigned as vice president. A very impressive memorial service was performed with Mrs. Velma Marsh in charge, assisted by Mrs. Nellie Achorn as chaplain and Mrs. Ida Huntley, as soloist, beautifully rendering the hymn "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. Helen Paladino is slated to be hostess for next Wednesday's card party and Mrs. Anne Alden was chosen as chairman of the supper to precede the next regular meeting. She will be assisted by Mrs. Stella McRae, Mrs. Mae Reed and Mrs. Josephine Lothrop. The Auxiliary will sponsor a beano party at the Winchenbaugh farm at The Highlands Monday night. Miss Margaret Bowler, Mrs. Nellie Achorn, Mrs. Emma Douglas won prizes at this week's card party, sponsored by the Auxiliary.

STORM VS. MUSIC

Lions Ladies' Night Had Both

—Rep. Sleeper Deplores Ladies' Night

Outdoors it was raining the proverbial "cats and dogs" last night, but inside there was the equally proverbial "sound of revelry."

The occasion, of course, was the ladies' night, given by the Rockland Lions Club and liberally shared by the Camden-Rockport Club. Time, last night; place, that happy new resort Witham's Lobster Pound in Rockport. Served there were two types of dinner—the kind culled fresh from the sea, and the kind that owes its origin to the poultry farm. The 102 "customers" found both much to their liking, although the crowded condition of the dining hall offered some handicaps to the serving, which was ably directed by Mrs. Bert Witham.

From soup to nuts there was a constant barrage of vocal music, rendered by the clubs as a whole, by quartets, groups and individuals and the tables were liberally supplied with other noise makers. Three cheer leaders did heroic work during the three hours that the affair lasted. They were Earker E. Worrey of the Rockland Club and David Crockett and Nelson Dangremont of the Camden-Rockport Club. Duke Amis, master of the ivories, was at the piano.

Representative Cleveland Sleeper was the principal speaker, handling without gloves the recent session of Legislature of which he was a member, but with whose acts he frequently dissented. The 1 per cent sales tax he declared to be an insult to the intelligence of the average man, while the only fair system appeared to him to be the income tax. "Legislature," he said "didn't have the courage to pass the sales tax but shifted the buck to us through the election next August. Don't be intimidated into voting for the sales tax at that time on the ground that the old age pensions will be dependent upon it."

James E. Connellan spoke briefly upon National Life Insurance Week. A brief abstract of his talk appears in another part of this issue in conjunction with his appearance before the Kiwanis Club.

With George Sleeper as an effective and irrepressible auctioneer, valuable articles were disposed of in unique manner.

AT THE THEATRES

Two great stars, Paul Muni and Miriam Hopkins appear Friday-Saturday at The Strand in the thrilling war story "The Woman I Love." It is one of the big pictures of the year. A singing cowboy appears at the Park Friday and Saturday in "Headin' For the Rio Grande"—adv.

SOUTH THOMASTON

The Farm Bureau will give a beano party Friday night at the Grange hall.

Twenty years ago there was one rat for every person in almost all the large cities. Today there is not more than one rat to each two persons in such cities, but on farms and in small towns the number of rats exceeds the human population.

WITH EXTENSION AGENTS AND THE KNOX-LINCOLN FARM BUREAU

In "The Milk Pail," the monthly publication of the State Dairy Herd Improvement Association, there were six herds in Knox-Lincoln County that averaged 25 pounds of butter fat per cow. The herds were: H. A. Hawes, Union; Arthur Hall, Jefferson; Round Top Farms, Damariscotta; Clarence Hilton, North Newcastles; C. W. Clark, Jr., Damariscotta; and T. N. Ayer, Jr., Alna. Due to the increase in the number of high producing cows, the honor roll is made up now of all cows that produce 50 pounds or more of butter fat per month. From Knox-Lincoln County the following men had cows in this group: Round Top Farms, seven; Arthur Hall, and C. W. Clark three each; D. E. Andrews, Jefferson, and Clarence Hilton one each.

Under the Agricultural Conservation program, this year payments will be made to farmers who reinforce their manure either in the barn or applied to the load when spreading superphosphate. This applies even if the manure is used on a hoed crop.

There are at present 394 farmers in Knox-Lincoln County who have signed work sheets to participate in the 1937 program. It is expected that the total number will exceed 400.

At the recent grafting demonstration held at Paul Pieri's in Jefferson, several men discussed cutting their hay early. Arthur Hall and Wallace Spear are planning to have all haying done by July 1.

Harold Allen of Hope has several hundred cabbage, cauliflower, and broccoli set out. He has also several hundred tomato plants that will be set out soon.

The next monthly meeting of the Lincoln County Poultry Improvement Association will be held at North Nobleboro. This will be in the community hall. Wallace Spear is looking after local arrangements. The meeting will be in charge of Edgar Smith, North Edgcomb, president of the Association. The last meeting at Nobleboro was very well attended and there was good interest.

Henry Anderson, agricultural conservation agent for Lincoln, Twin, and Franklin counties, is spending the week in Lincoln county, assisting County Agent Wentworth in calling on men who have requested information on the 1937 program. He will also test soil to determine the amount of lime needed. Cecil Ware, conservation agent for Knox, Waldo,

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatism, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Praise To Coast Guard Rookie Donald Hamalainen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hamalainen Sr. who has recently joined the Westport Coast Guard in the State of Washington has received praise for his work, together with four other Coast Guard men of longer service, in rescuing the crew of the Trinidad, a steam schooner which recently went ashore in that district.

The story of the rescue of the 21 survivors in a 60-mile gale is told in a newspaper article received here by Mr. Hamalainen's mother. Among other items is one headed "Coast Guard Rookie Wins Rescue Praise" which reads:

"D. E. Hamalainen, 22, Coast Guard rookie, got his salt water baptism in rescue work on the Trinidad. Joining the force only a short time ago, he had not yet figured in any heavy weather work; but Capt. Persson declared he stood the grueling task like a veteran. 'He's a dog-gone good man,' the captain said, 'and he didn't even get seasick!'"

ELMER TELLS IT

And Thinks Roy's Story of Recaptured False Teeth Wonderful, If True

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

On a recent hike toward the nook in search of skunk cabbage, I heard sounds that sounded like tap dancing. On nearing the Pearson wharf, I discovered my friend, Roy, sitting on the edge of the wharf. Knowing that he was of nervous temperament, I took precaution not to scare him for fear he might slip overboard accidentally.

I flung a few pebbles in his direction to attract attention. On seeing his reach in his hip pocket, I knew that I had gone far enough. Remembering that he is always armed for rabbits, I shouted, "Don't shoot, Roy. It's me."

"Show yourself, or take the consequences," replied Roy.

Discretion being the better part of valor, I was soon in full view.

"Elmer, come down here and sit for awhile. I have missed you so much. You see, I am tapping my shoes. Too much noise if I do it in the house."

"Yes, it is a noisy job," I agreed, and then said "I am down here to get that story you promised me about dropping your false teeth overboard when you were cook on the Sch. J. K. Monah."

He answered, "I always wanted to ship in a new vessel and here was my chance. Ernest Hawkins being the master; Frank Pellet, mate; and Fred Wall, second mate. I knew just what these fellows liked to eat and knew I could find the bill if they would furnish me with the supplies, which they did."

"We left Searsville, loaded with potatoes for Willis Wilkins at Cribbshaven. When near Two Bush Island I accidentally lost my teeth overboard. I put a chalk mark on the rail of the vessel where I was standing so I could find the exact spot on our return trip. We were not long unloading the cargo and then set sail for home. Nearing the vicinity where I met with the accident, Capt. Hawkins has the vessel to, under my direction. The chalk mark showed me the exact spot."

"I put a common flat iron on each foot as I wanted to go straight down. The water was only 80 feet deep and was very calm. I took a good, long breath and went down feet first; and if you will believe me, Elmer, I landed within 10 feet of my teeth. It did not take me long to put those teeth where they belonged."

"I kicked off the flat irons, gave one spring and was soon on the surface."

"A most remarkable story, Roy," said I. "I do not understand how you can stay under water so long without a diving suit."

"A flock of wild geese once lit in the water off the steamboat wharf. I made a bet with one of our summer visitors that I could get out of those geese without the use of a gun. He allowed I never could, and said he would give $5 for each I could get. I went overboard and walked out until I was under the geese. I gave a spring up, grabbed three pair of feet and walked back to the shore. I got my $15, and those geese were the largest I ever saw."

"A most wonderful story, Roy, if true," said I.

WHEREAS Evelyn O. Penfield of Maywood in the County of Bergen and State of New Jersey, by her mortgage deed dated July 27, 1933 and recorded in Knox Registry of Deeds in Book 235 Page 233 conveyed to Theodore S. Bird of Rockland in the County of Knox and State of Maine, a certain lot or parcel of land together with the buildings thereon situated on the westerly side of Commercial Street in the Town of Rockport in the County of Knox and State of Maine, and bounded and described as follows:—

Beginning at a stake in the northerly line of land of Benjamin H. Paul, and near the westerly line of said street, said stake being distant fifty-seven feet from the southeasterly corner of the house on the granted premises and twenty-nine feet easterly from a point which lies forty-eight feet southerly of said southeasterly corner of the house in the line of the easterly, or street side, of said house; thence westerly, in line of the wire fence now existing, by land of said Paul, nine rods to stake and stones; thence northerly by land of said Paul eight rods to stake and stones of land formerly of John J. Clough; thence easterly, by said Clough's land, nine rods to said Commercial Street; thence southerly by said street seven and one-half rods to place of beginning.

Being the same premises conveyed to Evelyn O. Penfield by Esie Maud Reed Whitney by warranty deed dated July 24, 1933 and recorded in Knox Registry of Deeds in Book 232 Page 563, and WHEREAS the condition of said mortgage has been broken.

NOW, THEREFORE, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, he claims a foreclosure of said mortgage. Dated at Rockland, Maine, May 3, 1937.

AT CAMDEN HILLS

Some Late News Concerning the 1130th Civilian Conservation Corps

Twenty-five men from Camden Hills Camp, the 1130th CCC, were sent Sunday to the State Prison in Thomaston. The trip was not arranged because any trifling had been done with the law of the land, but was conducted as a special excursion of the baseball club. The championship baseball club of Maine's model penal institution proved too formidable an adversary for the Camden boys and defeated its visitors to the tune of 9-1.

According to Herbert Pendleton of Millinocket, captain of the CCC ball club, the Thomaston outfit held its advantage because of its superior teamwork. This is possible because the same team plays together as a unit year after year. No return game is anticipated.

The nature study class at the 1130th Co. discovered this week that the law of the jungle is the law of Penobscot Bay when "Billy" a colorful snake in the club's reptile collection enjoyed a rather full breakfast at the expense of little Lizzie the Lizard, a large spotted salamander.

The meal was witnessed by a small gathering of young men who were shocked by the tragedy, but realized that Bill must have been very hungry before deciding to do away with his bunkmate. Only when it was too late did the nature class realize that the tragedy would also make orphans of Lizzie's 320 offspring which are expected to be born within the next few days.

RUTH MAYHEW TENT Elects Delegates To the State Convention — G. A. R. Comrade Visited

Members of Ruth Mayhew Tent met Monday afternoon at Grand Army hall for sewing. Supper was served, with Lizzie French as chairman. At the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Priscilla Smith, an invitation to attend services with other patriotic orders Memorial Sunday was accepted. This practice will keep alive the memory of those who made possible this undivided nation.

General orders from National and Department President Marie Patterson were read by the secretary. Preparations are being made for the 25th annual convention to be held in Portland, June 14-15 with headquarters at Falmouth Hotel. The Tent has elected as delegates: Ada Payson, Lucy Bucklin, Maude Cates; alternates, Josephine Lothrop, Doris Ames and Mae Cross.

Comrade Peter Prock, one of the three remaining Grand Army veterans, was remembered on his 90th birthday with "smokes" and other gifts, and visited by the committee, Doris Ames, chairman.

Due to illness, the memorial service for deceased members was postponed.

The next meeting takes place June 7, Josephine Lothrop and Olive Crockett to serve as supper committee.

NORTH HAVEN A shower and reception will be given tonight at the Grange hall for Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ladd. Everyone is invited.

A minstrel show for the benefit of Knights of Pythias and North Haven Band is slated for Friday at 7.30 in Calderwood's hall.

Scheduled seaplane service, effective May 322, two round trips daily to North Haven, leaving Rockland at 8.30 a. m. and 3.30 p. m. 60-62

NEW WIRE RATES Postal Telegraph Co. Tells the Public About "Startling Reductions"

Postal Telegraph has filed and the Federal communications commission at Washington, D. C. has approved startling reductions in the rate for overnight telegraph services through the United States, according to an announcement received by P. C. Pratt, manager and is signed by Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the board of Postal Telegraph. The new rates will be put into effect by Postal June 1.

The new rate structure reduces drastically the cost of night letter telegrams. It establishes a base of 25 words for which charges are the same or less than the present 10 word night message which the new rate structure eliminates within the United States.

The present 50-word night letter is also eliminated by the 25-word night letter and the base rate for a night letter is reduced to 50 cents between the two most widely separated points in the United States. For instance, the present rate for 25 words, sent as a night message between New York and San Francisco, is 96 cents and the 50-word night letter is $1.20, the new 25-word base rate is 50 cents.

Similar reductions will result between all points. The most impressive features of the new overnight rates, however, Mr. Pratt says, can be stated simply as follows:

"The more words written, the lower the cost per word. Take the new rate for a 300 word night letter between the east and west coasts. It will be slightly more than one cent per word, or $3.40. Compare that with the present rate for 300 words which is $7.20. That is a reduction of about 53 percent. On the new basis we carry 300 words from here to Boston for 86 cents, also to New York for $1.18 and the cost per word is even lower for longer messages."

The announcement received from the headquarters of the Postal Telegraph system in New York contains the following statement by Mr. Mackay:

"I consider this the most important rate reduction in all telegraph history. It is being done, frankly, to place the telegraph facilities at the disposal of American business and social needs for overnight communications of letter length. We believe that the new rates will make it practical for business men to telegraph urgent reports, instructions, specifications and other communications requiring a certain amount of detail as well as assured delivery. Such a widespread extension of the Postal telegraph service in terms of cost to the public I believe is going to revolutionize the industry."

Manager Pratt states that the complete rate schedule and all information will be available at all Postal Telegraph offices on May 25.

The possibilities of our fishing industry for a rosy future have appealed to another famed fisheries expert. Dr. Vadim D. Vladikov, Russian ichthyologist, employed by the Canadian Government and now loaned to the State of Maryland for special research was here recently and spent several days looking over the work of this Department and the fishery situation in general. He stated that he was much impressed with the work being done in this State and the efforts being made to rebuild the industry.

Dr. Vladikov has studied the fishery problems of every country and believes that we have especially good prospects. He specified that our cool, clear water, free from pollution was excellent for fish of all kinds and that it was a shame that the industry has been allowed to decline to its present state. He advocates a fishery educational program with especial stress on the school children, education of the fishermen as to the value of conservation and landing better handled fish and a general campaign to find new and steady markets.

From a conservation standpoint he offered many suggestions and explained how that other states and countries were making valuable by-products from the parts of fish that we are wasting. He believes that the greatest need of the industry is co-operation, not only among the fishermen and the Conservation departments, but between the producing states and countries. Bringing young men into the work, training them and offering them a good future is, in his opinion a very important factor.

After studying under several great Russian fish experts Dr. Vladikov came to Canada 17 years ago and became a citizen of the Dominion. He has been connected with the national bureau of fisheries for a number of years. Maryland engaged him for two years to study the decline in striped bass and other matters. He has worked on practically every commercial species.

Our alewife industry at Damariscotta and Warren was of great interest to him. He photographed the fishways and methods of handling and said that he considered the Warren fishway one of the best he had ever seen. He has asked this Department to send him 100 fresh alewives and is to make a thorough study of them. He expressed surprise to learn that we made a big business of smoking this species. In Maryland and other states only the roe is taken and smoking is unheard of. He took several hundred of the choicest smoked grades back and is to experiment on new ways of cooking and preparing them.

Previously Dr. Vladikov had not believed in artificial rearing of lobsters as he was familiar only with the original method used years ago. After inspecting the new method to be used in our hatchery and now being set up at Boothbay Harbor for experimental purposes he said that he was convinced that we had the only practical way and, although there would be many things to iron out, we should be able to produce results. He was much interested in our lobster shipping plants and pounds.

"You people in Maine are really doing something," he stated as he left to return to Maryland, "and I believe that you have a great future in your fisheries. I was pleasantly surprised to see that your dealers and fishermen are so progressive and that you have such a wide variety of products to work on."

HIRAM N. PILLSBURY

April 19 Hiram Nelson Pillsbury died at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston following an operation. Mr. Pillsbury was born in Rockland July 26, 1872, son of the late Captain Hiram G. and Sarah A. Pillsbury. After leaving school he was employed for many years at the store of I. L. Snow & Co., after which he went to British Columbia and Tacoma, Washington where he was engaged in the coal mining and lumber industry.

Later he returned to Boston working for many years for Thorndike & Hix in their lobster department. Of late years he has been employed by a warehouse concern.

Mr. Pillsbury was married in Portsmouth, N. H., to Miss Ethel Newbegin. Mrs. Pillsbury died several years ago. A son, Joseph A. Pillsbury of Winthrop, Mass., remains to mourn his death. There are also three brothers and two sisters remaining in the family—Mrs. Minnie M. Staalesen having died recently—Capt. Albert F. Pillsbury of Berkeley, Cal., Clifford I. Pillsbury of San Francisco, Maurice H. Pillsbury of Berkeley, Mrs. Sarah Pillsbury Whitcomb of Meredith, N. H., and Miss Mabel A. Pillsbury of this city.

Funeral services were held in his home city of Revere, Mass., and interment was in his family lot in Glendale cemetery, Everett, Mass.

EARLY FLIGHTS

Recalled By Anniversary of the NC-4's Crossing of the Atlantic

Eighteen years ago last Sunday the American naval seaplane NC-4 manned by six, took off from Newfoundland on an epoch making flight to England. Fifteen days later when Lieut. Com. A. C. Read, the skipper, nosed the craft down into the harbor at Plymouth, the first crossing of the Atlantic by a flying machine was completed.

Navy officers said this week the contrast between that pioneering venture and present ocean flights—when a commercial plane shuttles from New York to London and back in less than 48 hours flying time—typifies the strides made in aviation development.

Read, now a captain and serving as assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, was out of the city on the anniversary date, but one member of the original expedition remained to reminisce over the exploit. He was the bluff, hearty Captain Holden C. Richardson, naval construction officer who helped design the NC-4.

"The British laughed," he recalled, "when we stationed destroyers every 50 miles or so along the whole route to assist in the flight. They said we didn't need all those 'lampposts.' But we felt that every precaution was justified."

Richardson was second in command of the NC-3 which, with the NC-1, took off with the NC-4, but, disabled near the Azores Islands, was unable to continue the trans-Atlantic journey. To him the trials and tribulations of the 17-hour flight from Trepassy, Newfoundland, to a point near Ponta del Gada, Azores, were all in the day's work. His only complaint was the food.

"They gave us one shoebox full of sandwiches for a lunch," he said bitterly, "and half of the damned things were made of jelly and that thinly sliced bread which reminded you of a lady's bridge luncheon. But we were spared them after all. The take-off from Trepassy Harbor was so rough that the whole box fell into the bilge."

Before the NC-3 reached Ponta del Gada, the crew was drinking water out of its engines' radiators. Meanwhile, the NC-4 had landed safely at Horta, the Azores, completing the 1,200 nautical mile flight from Trepassy in 15 hours and 18 minutes—a distance now flown in a little more than half that time.

Successive hops to Ponta Del Gada and thence to Lisbon, Portugal, were delayed by unfavorable weather so that the NC-4 did not reach the latter place until May 27. She set out on the last leg, from Lisbon for Plymouth on May 30 but a leak in the port engine forced her down near Figueria, Portugal. After completing repairs there, she was flown on to Ferrol, Spain, for an overnight halt.

On the following morning, she took off again and landed at Plymouth in the afternoon. A total air-line distance of 3,190 statute miles had been traversed in two weeks and one day.

The flight of the NC-4 and her sister ships first was initiated as a grim necessity of war time. There was insufficient cargo space on transport ships for carrying to France the large number of airplanes needed by American and Allied forces in the World War. So the Navy high command decided to try to "ferry" them across under their own power.

The three ships, completed in October, 1918, were flown to Washington for final inspection on the day the armistice was signed.

"We got here just in time for the bad news," Captain Richardson said today, recalling the fears of the crew that the trans-Atlantic flight then would be called off. But orders finally were issued after several months for them to proceed as scheduled for experimental purposes.

"And the flight proved what we set out to determine—that it is feasible to fly ships long distances over water to the point where they are to be put to use."

A BIG SATURDAY

This Week Is Expected To Lead All Others In C.G. Contest

The $25 offer for the most money on subscriptions this week is causing a great added interest in The Courier-Gazette contest, and today promises to exceed last Saturday in the volume of business turned in by the candidates.

As announced $25 in cash will be given to the candidate who turns in the most money from May 17 to Saturday May 22 at 9 p. m. What you turn in this week counts on the other cash prizes.

The two grand prizes that head the big prize list in The Courier-Gazette contest have proven a strong incentive to the whole list of candidates. As first grand prize The Courier-Gazette is giving away $500 in cash the second prize $250 in cash. Five other valuable awards are on the list, making seven grand prizes in all.

A new vote standing, which is now being compiled by the contest manager, shows how hard the candidates are going after one of those big prizes. While the last has not been completed, it shows that the leaders still are very close together and that there will be no telling who will win them until very near the last day of this great contest. As the contest manager said yesterday, "It is anybody's $500 and what the candidates do in the next week or so will probably tell the tale."

The $25 cash prize this week has been an incentive to much extra work this week, several of the candidates having come in for more receipt books. Saturday's returns will show how much business they have secured toward winning the $25 in cash.

Nothing succeeds like success, goes an old and true saying and many of the candidates are applying it by keeping after subscriptions. Having a good start towards winning the $500 serves as an incentive to get more and keep up at the top or near the top. The final drive in the last period will be easy for the candidates who keep their eye on the standing and keep their votes near the leaders. A great many races are won by keeping close to the front-runner and then putting everything into the "stretch-run" and winning. It has also been wisely said that "un-easy lies the head that wears the crown," and the leading candidates are finding out that the position is in big demand at all stages. Of course, "the head that wears the crown" on the final day of the contest is going to be a very, very proud head.
